

How to safely ship your items to MPA:

Please contact MPA about your consignment before shipping. You will want to be sure the items you have are appropriate for our auctions.

We suggest using boxes rather than any type of envelope when shipping your numismatic items.

If you are shipping individual coins and currency place them in a box or bag of appropriate size. Do not send loose coins! If you are sending larger items such as coin sets, use bubble wrap or other packaging material to protect each item. Because packages can encounter some rough treatment during shipping, make sure you have enough packaging material in the box, so the contents do not move when the box is gently shaken. If your package is particularly heavy, we suggest double boxing – putting a box in slightly larger box for extra strength.

Make sure to include an inventory of what is in the package. The printout from our consignment form is best, but handwritten is also fine.

Registered mail is one of the safest ways to ship your valuables and you can purchase up to $50,000 in insurance. When using Registered mail, you will have to fill out a special form and the package must be taped at every seam. (Plastic tape cannot be used).

Priority mail is also a good option. It is faster and less costly than registered mail. Insurance is limited to $5,000 with priority mail. The Post Office supplies boxes for Priority Mail free of charge. No special form or taping is required, though we recommend taping the seams.

Purchase enough insurance to cover the value of the shipment. Keep in mind the postal insurance limits, you may have to send multiple packages.
